Vintage Porch Swings was highlighted the VPS website and Joshua and Emerson designs.

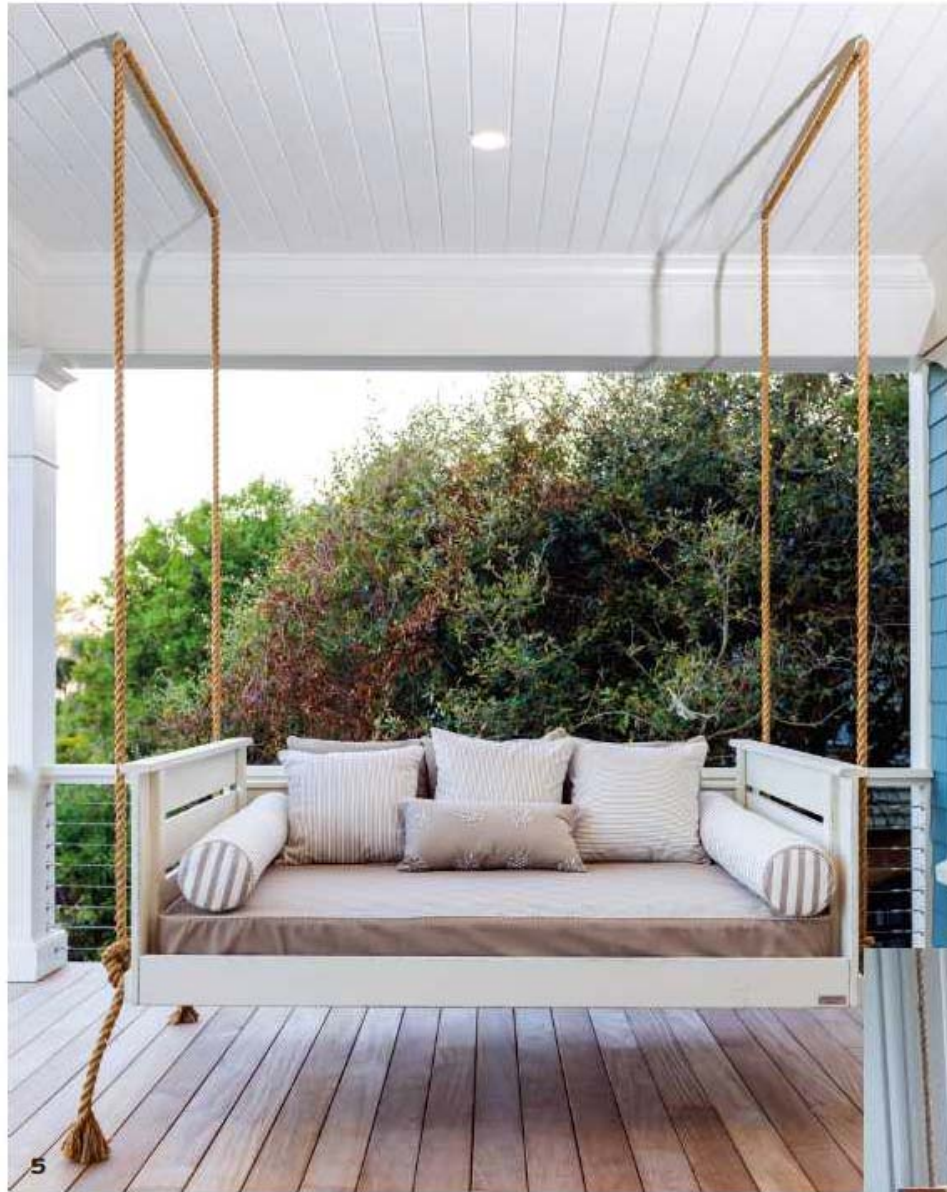

HOME STYLE

5. Vintage Vantage Vintage Porch Swings, a family-owned business in South Carolina, has a wonderful website showing the owners and their seven beautiful children, for whom the swings are named. The couple also makes beautiful swings, including the Emerson, with beadboard sides and round finials, and the Joshua, with wide horizontal slats. Emerson: $2,113. Joshua: $1,964. Both at www.vintageporchswings.com.

6. English Garden Style For those who love the classics, the Yorkshire swing is simply divine. Crafted from hardwoods covered with a polyurethane finish, the openwork design is at once elegant and modern. $249 at www.grandinroad.com.

7. Low Country Lounging The Daniel Island cedar swing bed is a rustic charmer, made to order by folks in Charleston, S.C. The small company that makes them, Low-country Swing Beds, specializes in custom orders, so get this swing modified to fit your space. Have the cedar treated with a clear coat.

Made for the Shade

These porch swings or comfy chairs come with their own sun-protecting canopy.

8. Canopy Cool With the Hampton Canopy Deck Chair, you can relax wherever you'd like. The all-weather wicker frame is topped by a sunrella cushion.
